Overall Virtue Score

87/100

Virtue Assessment

TEAMWORK

90/100

Examples: Teacher said I'm getting better at teamwork; Helped friend with leadership

"Emma, your teamwork skills are truly blossoming! Helping your friend with leadership shows you understand collaboration and mutual support. When you work with others, you're not just completing tasks - you're lifting others up, which is exactly what makes you a true leader. Your ability to contribute to group success while supporting teammates is remarkable."

COURAGE

85/100

Examples: Tried really hard in organization despite confusion; Asked about keeping going when things are hard

"Emma, your courage shines through in moments of challenge! You're not afraid to try new things even when you feel confused - that's real bravery. Your willingness to ask how to keep going when things are hard shows incredible inner strength. Remember, the most amazing people are those who keep trying, even when they're unsure of the path ahead."

HONESTY

92/100

Examples: Honestly shared time management struggles; Openly asked about feeling less smart than peers

"Your honesty is one of your greatest strengths, Emma. Being brave enough to admit when you're struggling with time management shows incredible self-awareness. It's courageous to be honest about feeling less confident - that's exactly how we grow! Your willingness to share your true feelings creates space for others to do the same, and that's a gift to your community."

COMPASSION

88/100

Examples: Helped friend leadership; Asked about keeping going when things are hard

"Emma, your compassion flows naturally from your heart. Helping your friend with leadership shows you care about others' success and growth. When you're concerned about others' struggles, you're already on the path to becoming a leader who makes the world better. Your heart is in the right place, and that's what makes you truly strong."

WISDOM

82/100

Examples: Asked about keeping going when things are hard; Recognized importance of teamwork

"You're developing wisdom with each conversation, Emma! Your question about how to keep going when things are hard shows you're learning to think deeply about challenges. Recognizing that teamwork is important shows you're understanding what makes a good community. Wisdom isn't about knowing all the answers - it's about asking the right questions and learning from experiences."
